

The Code: Jesus

A Jesus people, bringing a Jesus movement.

Pastor Steve preached a radical message about the All Nations vision, values, purpose and identity. All this is not for us, it's all for Jesus. Jesus, first and centre of everything we do; to know and ever be more like him.

There's no other foundation but Jesus, but the quality of what you build on that will eventually be tested. Jesus is more than just a way to get to heaven. Christianity could seemingly be lived cheaply, but is that all that Jesus is worth and will the fruit of that kind of living survive the testing? Much is expected of whom much is given.

Jesus is the only way to go, but He's not just the ticket, He's the guide with us along the way, and He's the destination. Jesus is the WAY to get people to God.

Key scriptures: 1 Corinthians 3.10-15 Jesus the foundation, Matthew 6.33 Seek first His kingdom and righteousness, Luke 12.48 Much given, much expected, Colossians 1.15-20 Ultimately, Jesus FIRST in everything.

Questions

We may have a lot of potentially provocative questions here, but I don't think Steve is trying to be offensive, disturbing or anything like that, other than to bring an alert, a prompting to evaluate and maybe recalibrate aspects, areas or even the whole purpose of our lives. Let the Holy Spirit guide us in this and all that we do.

1. What would you say are your
 - a. Motives for being a Christian
 - b. Reasons for being in All Nations
2. How much (a) could and (b) should Jesus be involved in your day to day life? If accepted, then what would you say needs to change to allow that?
3. We are a people at the beginning of a movement. What should be the answer to some who might ask how can all this be?
